Learnopoly

The name of our student enterprise is “Learnopoly” by Aoife Coughlan and Ava O’Donoghue. Learnopoly is a boardgame based educational service that offers a concept that incorporates different subjects such as Maths and Geography and turns them into a fun and exciting game to be used within classrooms or even at home. Playing such games can help promote confidence and communication skills as it is designed to be played among a few players at once, which can therefore be used as a bonding exercise as well as an educational one.
